COTTON MARKETS

bles Indicate Rush for Actual on Other Side Continues Urgent.

Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 18. Higher prices were recorded again in Higher prices were recorded again in a cotton market, and it was chiefly reflection of the sustained rush on he part of spinners for the actual, iverposel was strong and finished at grains, especially on the near onths, which reflect the spot department. Private cables anlenty were resived, telling of the hig husiness mills re doing and the scramble for spots, which apparently is accentuated to me extent by labor troubles on this de which are expected to check the ow of raw material from our ports. On this side the water there was sore weather which was not favorable and growing evidence of the scarcity of the kinds of cotton wanted, while he holders are maintaining their polyof exacting every cent possible for that they have to sell. Advices from rany sections of the belt continue to imphasize the effects of the recent rolonged spell of bad weather, almough this has been in a large measive taken into account by the traders. The map this morning showed that a add wave was on the northwestern dge of the belt, with strong promise of freezing temperatures in the panandle of Texas, upper Oklahoma and ossibly Northern Arkansas tonight, ower down and eastward rains were romised, to be followed by colder. The utlook was a mixed one, for some conend that the cold weather will stop he rains and that frost will do less arm than continued rains. The weather was a factor, but apparently the biggest one was the evidence of continued the property of the setual.

First prices in the domestic markets vere firm and higher in response to the ables and weather news. December tarted at 36c, up 32 points from the servious close, dipped 10 points to 5.90c and then worked upward without meeting much resistance. There was nothing spectacular about the rise, and lates in the day Western operators were credied with doing a big part of he buying, while some of the Eastern ind Southern traders were thought to be against the rise. The builge in the afternoon was attributed to an effort o discount the additional rise in spot prices in the belt. December sold up as high as 35.76c, which was 109 points over previous close for that position ver previous close for that position ad to within a short while of the close hensions of killing frosts in northern parts of the western belt.

Buying was stimulated by the western belt forecast for probably freesing weather in northern sections toulght and the advance continued until December sold at 35.47 and January at 35.85, with active months showing net gains of about 50 to 50 points. Bustness then became less active and there were reactions of 15 to 20 points from the best under realining.

Slight midday reactions were followed by another wave of more or less general buying which sent prices into new high ground during the early afternoon. December sold up to 35.76c and January to 35.00c, or 35 to 109 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—A much higher Liverpool market than due, good trade reports and rains in the western belt, together with prospects of frost and freewing after them, put the price of cotton sharply higher today. In the first half hour of trading the active months rose 64 to 72 points. Realizing of profits by holders of long contracts caused small recessions, but they were not maintained. Late in the morning the trading months were at net advances of 57 to 78 points. Reports of a good spot business at higher prices over the South generally gave the market a very firm tone. NEW YORK. Oct. 28.—The cotton market showed renewed strength early today with December contracts making a new high record for the reason. The opening was firm at an advance of 28 to 41 points, and active months sold 58 to 70 points net higher during the first half hour with December touching 36.37, and January 35.77. There was a good deal of realizing, but it was readily absorbed, owing to the reports of 90 continued active spot demand, the strength of near months in Liverpool and unfavorable weather with appre-

"A Highly Technical Business" We do not like the statement so often made that oil invest-ments are "a gamble" pure and simple. Success in the oil business requires experience, ability, integrity and money. A complete fallacy is the idea in the minds of many that all that is required is to secure a lesse covering some land in the oil fields and drill a well and the rest is easy. The unskilled, in-experienced operator rarely makes a permittent success in the oil industry.—From Currier & Company's "Truth About the Oil Business." Copy on request
